

“One of the greatest films
ever made about the spiritual life,
Into Great Silence is a profound meditation not simply on the monastic life but on life itself.
This exquisite work of art is also a superb teaching tool for educators seeking to help people see how God speaks most eloquently through life’s simplest experiences.”

—Father James Martin, S.J., author of My Life with the Saints

INTO GREAT SILENCE

A FILM BY PHILIP GRÖNING

Nestled deep in the postcard-perfect French Alps, the Grande Chartreuse is considered one of the world's most ascetic monasteries. In 1984, German filmmaker Philip Gröning wrote to the Carthusian order for permission to make a documentary about them. They said they would get back to him. Sixteen years later, they were ready. Gröning, sans crew or artificial lighting, lived in the monks' quarters for six months—filming their daily prayers, tasks, rituals and rare outdoor excursions. This transcendent, closely observed film seeks to embody a monastery, rather than simply depict one—it has no score, no voiceover and no archival footage. What remains is stunningly elemental: time, space and light. One of the most mesmerizing and poetic chronicles of spirituality ever created, INTO GREAT SILENCE dissolves the border between screen and audience with a total immersion into the hush of monastic life. More meditation than documentary, it's a rare, transformative experience for all.

2006 • Germany • 162 mins • Color • With minimal French dialogue and English subtitles

PRAISE FOR "INTO GREAT SILENCE" AS A TEACHING TOOL

"Film can represent religion, or it can, much more rarely, give us a taste of transcendent experience itself. At this nexus of art and religion, we find Into Great Silence, rearranging reality so that we can find something new in ourselves.... Especially recommended for courses in Religious Studies that work on religion as culture, or wish to expose students to new ways of engaging older religious life-forms like the monastery."

—Angela Zito, Director, Religious Studies, NYU; Co-director, Center for Religion and Media

"Philip Gröning does to his film what the monks have done to their lives. He strips away everything superfluous to get down to the barest essentials. He leads his viewers though a wordless experience much like contemplation."

—Richard A. Blake, S.J., Co-director, Film Studies Program, Boston College; film reviewer, America magazine

"Into Great Silence is pure cinema at its purest and most exalted. More than a documentary of monastic life.... It's a rare perfection in a film."

—Steven D. Greydanus, National Catholic Register

"A view into a world where the present moment is all there is...that single moment of time that is always 'now'."

—Carol Ann Raphael, What Is Enlightenment? magazine
