“MESMERIZING! BREATHTAKING!”

Nothing illustrates the monstrosity of globalized commerce more vividly

– Jim Ridley, THE VILLAGE VOICE

“AN EXTRAORDINARY, HAUNTING, BEAUTIFUL,
INSIGHTFUL, TOUCHING AND THOUGHT-PROVOKING MOVIE!”

–AL GORE

MANUFACTURED LANDSCAPES is the striking new documentary on the world and work of renowned artist Edward Burtynsky. Internationally acclaimed for his large-scale photographs of “manufactured landscapes”—quarries, recycling yards, factories, mines and dams—Burtynsky creates stunningly beautiful art from civilization’s materials and debris. The film follows him through China, as he shoots the evidence and effects of that country’s massive industrial revolution. With breathtaking sequences, such as the opening tracking shot through an almost endless factory, the filmmakers also extend the narratives of Burtynsky’s photographs, allowing us to meditate on our impact on the planet and witness both the epicenters of industrial endeavor and the dumping grounds of its waste.

In the spirit of such environmentally enlightening hits as AN INCONVENIENT TRUTH and RIVERS AND TIDES, MANUFACTURED LANDSCAPES powerfully shifts our consciousness about the world and the way we live in it, without simplistic judgments or reductive resolutions.

“STUNNING!”

Like Burtynsky’s work, the film is gorgeous and haunting.”

– Anthony Kaufman, UTNE READER

“AN EXTRAORDINARY VISUAL RECORD OF CHANGE ON AN UNPRECEDENTED SCALE.

The shots expand on Burtynsky’s work, capturing not just the physical scale but the physical sense of moving through these massive factories and landscapes in time. ”
